Dear Friends,

Welcome to our FY 2016 Annual Report! With your financial support, we are achieving our mission: to prepare young people from Rhode Island’s urban communities for college access and success. I am delighted to share great news from three Crusaders who are currently in college.

Michael Jimenez graduated from Providence Career & Technical Academy in 2015 and is in his sophomore year at Providence College. He is majoring in Electrical Engineering and has a minor in Computer Science. His favorite course so far has been Modern Physics. “It focused on important discoveries in physics over the last 100 years,” he says. “I liked going into Einstein’s theory of relativity in more depth.” As a Crusader, Michael learned SMART goal setting, which he still uses for time management. “It helps keep me from being overwhelmed when I have a lot to do in a short time,” he says.

Patience Adegboyega graduated from Shea High School in 2016 and now attends Brown University. She is considering a double major in Political Science and Economics. Her favorite course so far was her fall seminar on the Literature of the Americas. Patience is thriving in the diverse community on campus. “As a Crusader, I was constantly meeting people who were different from me and learning how to make friends,” she says. “Being able to introduce myself and hold conversations with new people was imperative to my first weeks here.”

Cristoffer Perez graduated from Times2 STEM Academy in 2016 and attends Rhode Island College. His major is Computer Science. Lately Cristoffer is enjoying his statistics class. “In stats all the math you do is applicable to everyday life,” he says. “It’s math with a purpose.” He feels his experience as a Crusader definitely helped equip him for college. “It prepared me to be a leader and really helped me improve my public-speaking skills,” he says.

Michael, Patience, Cristoffer, and thousands of other young people in The College Crusade have benefited from your generosity. I join them to offer our sincere thanks.
